Communion Rite Listed at Church

The Wayland Seventh-day Adventist Church will have its quarterly communion service Saturday, Sept. 5 during the 11 a.m. worship.

The list of officers for the next year has been reported by the nominating committee and was read to the church Aug. 29. It will be read again Sept. 5 and a vote taken. The new officers will take over duties Oct. 3.

Instead of the usual weekly prayer meetings at the church a new plan has been devised that will enable more shut-ins to participate. Beginning Sept. 9, at 7 p.m. a series of family fellowship gatherings will be held at various homes. On Sept. 9, all are invited to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Yarger on County Line Road, Wayland. On Sept. 16, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Pryor of Arkport will host the evening of praise and prayer. Sept. 23, the Lawrences of Mark's Trailer Court in Dansville will open their home to friends and neighbors. The book "Ministry of Healing" will be discussed chapter by chapter each week. All are welcome.

Man is Promoted By Area Utility

New York State Electric & Gas Corp. has promoted Edward P. Dickinson to human resources and safety manager for the Hornell District, according to George C. Osborne, manager for the district.

Dickinson joined NYSEG in 1971 as a meter reader in Elmira. He became a mechanic in the Transportation Department there in 1972 and was promoted to Northeast Area transportation foreman at Plattsburgh in 1979.

Draw Plans for School Association

A proposed Family School Association for Wayland Central School won the endorsement of the Board of Education at its meeting last week.

Support for the organization was requested by Catherine Kelly, a parent, who is seeking to bring together parents, teachers and administrators to discuss ways of improving educational programs in the district.

Mrs. Kelly says about 35 parents have expressed an interest in the group. It would avoid school policies and other issues that many parent-teacher groups become involved with.

She said the association is not to be political, and it is not involved with another parents group being formed to promote a proposed school expansion.

The organization may sponsor book fairs, suppers and other events to raise funds for educational programs. Babysitting services are being considered to permit more parents to participate, Mrs. Kelly said.

Trustees received and approved a number of resignations, all effective immediately, consisting of: Judy Rice, teachers' aide; Theresa Brue, elementary librarian; James Brant, special education; and Lynn Minderman, elementary teacher. Also, Vera Gardner, custodial staff, who is retiring effective Sept. 26.

Appointed to a three-year probationary period was Robert C. Roser of Canisteo. He will assume the duties of high school vice-principal at an annual salary of $33,000.

Roser will fill the vacancy created with the resignation of Thomas Kelleher, who has taken a position as principal of Letchworth Central School.

Other staff appointments are Polly Stapley, elementary librarian, and Bonnie Davenport, special education. Both appointments were effective last Tuesday and are for three-year probationary periods.

In other business, the board: Approved a contract for Lei Mark to provide physical therapy services during 1987-88 for two special education students. She will be paid $120 a week.

Awarded contracts to: Bonadonna Market, meat products; Dunkirk Ice Cream Co., ice cream; Byrnes Dairy, milk and milk products; Stroehmann Bakeries, bread and rolls; United Refinery

Co., fuel oil; Suburban Propane, propane gas; Rochester Stone Fixture Co., steam kettle and cooker, $10,996; and State-Wide

Machinery Inc., washer and tractor machine, $5,915.
